Since 2002, Rock Solid Technologies, Inc., the software development company, has shown its interest in the development and retention of local talent in Puerto Rico, establishing its scholarship program for students in a Bachelor's degree. The goal of the scholarship is to develop local talent and reduce the "brain drain" from the Island, thus helping our economy and our community.

Scholarships award includes: $1,500 plus a salaried summer job of at least 10 weeks. Rock Solid reserves the right not to offer the summer job if no positions are available.

Candidates are required to be full-time students on their junior year with a minimum GPA of 3.00. Students with a major in Computer Engineering, Computer Information Systems, Computer Sciences or Accounting may apply.

Applications must be postmarked no later than April 15, 2013. Rock Solid will evaluate all applications and select finalists for interview by April 26, 2013. Winners will be announced by May 10, 2013.

All applications must include: name, local address, permanent address, e-mail address, phone number, GPA and major. Visit our website for more details.

Candidates must answer the following question:

What can I do to change the world from Puerto Rico?

Don't forget to submit:

- ✓ Application
- ✓ Resume
- ✓ Official transcript
- ✓ Essay Question (One page maximum)
- ✓ Submit two letters of recommendation (professor or supervisor)

Don't miss the opportunity.
