JOB DESCRIPTION AND DUTIES

Teaching position with the rank of Assistant Professor with a specialization in accounting, is a probationary appointment. The candidate must balance teaching, research, and community service. The responsibilities of the position are teaching accounting courses in various formats (in-person, hybrid, or distance learning), research, publication of articles on accounting in peer-reviewed academic journals of quality, and any other task that is of service to the university, the campus and the UPR system.
Knowledge advancement through research in forensic accounting and technologies for data analysis in accounting is required as well as having the capacity for collaboration with research from other faculties in emergent areas strategically identified by the institution. The selected candidate will have a regular academic load equal to 12 credits per semester. You will be expected to develop nationally recognized and externally funded research programs, be committed to excellence in accounting education at the undergraduate and graduate levels, and contribute to other initiatives. The College of Business Administration is accredited by the Accreditation Council for Business Schools and Programs (ACBSP) and is working towards accreditation by the Association to Advance Collegiate Schools of Business (AACSB). We encourage our professors to distribute their regular workload between teaching and research.

HOW TO APPLY

Candidates should send their curriculum vitae, a letter of intent describing how your qualifications and experiences would contribute to institutional success through this position, a copy of academic transcripts for all university degrees, a research agenda with examples of research work and publications, teaching philosophy with supplementary material (teaching portfolio, sample syllabus, teaching evaluations), and contact information for three references to decano.adem@uprm.edu. The candidates who pass the first evaluation will be asked for three professional reference letters, three peer reference letters, and formal academic transcripts of all university degrees. Only complete applications will be evaluated. For more information about the UPR-RUM College of Business Administration, visit https://www.uprm.edu/adem/.
