

WANT TO CHANGE THE WORLD?

NARRATIVE AS SOCIAL JUSTICE, T&TH 12:30

INGL: 4045: Literature of the English-Speaking Caribbean

In the spring 2019 semester, Dr. Chansky will continue to lead a large-scale, public humanities research project on Hurricane María that uses the methodologies of biographical research & oral history to enact social justice. This project is made possible through a grant from the Voice of Witness Program & is undertaken in conjunction with The Humanities Action Lab, a joint project led by Columbia University, Rutgers University, and The New School. Outcomes include a publication by Haymarket Books, a leading social justice press, & an international traveling exhibition, "Migration, Environmental Justice, & Climate Justice. All are welcome to participate! There are no prerequisites! Email ricia.chansky@upr.edu for more information.