

University of Puerto Rico
Mayagüez Campus
College of Engineering
Department of Mechanical Engineering
Bachelor of Science in Mechanical Engineering

Course Syllabus

1. General Information: Alpha-numeric codification: INME 5996 Course Title: Special Problems II Number of credits: 1-6 Contact Period: One to six hours of lecture per week
2. Course Description: English: Researches and special problems in Mechanical Engineering and related fields. Spanish: Investigaciones y problemas especiales en Ingeniería Mecánica y campos afines.
3. Pre/Co-requisites and other requirements: Prerequisites: Authorization of the Director of the Department.
4. Course Objectives: After completion of the course the student should: <ul style="list-style-type: none">• Implement the necessary tasks and milestones required to design, manufacture, and produce a particular engineering system related to the selected topic;• Use engineering knowledge to generate an engineering design in the area of vehicle that meet specified needs• Make clear and effective technical presentations, both in terms of form as well as content, of his/her work and write clear technical reports describing his/her work.• Use of proper engineering judgment in the area of vehicle engineering guided by ethical, environmental, and professional considerations.• Use project management tools such as Gantt charts, Pareto charts, critical path analysis, and action items for planning, prioritizing, and scheduling tasks in a design project work effectively. Work on project teams in both member and leader roles, with team members who may have different backgrounds and technical skill levels• Develop and conduct appropriate experimentation in the area of vehicle engineering, analyze and interpret data, and use engineering judgment to draw conclusions• Find, evaluate and use resources to learn independently in the area of vehicle engineering.

10. Bibliography:
Textbook:
Eder, W. E., & Hosnedl, S. (2007). Design engineering: A manual for enhanced creativity . Boca Raton: CRC Press.
 These books are key classic references and remain as the top books for the subjects covered in the course and there are no up-to-date textbooks to substitute these books.
11. Law 51: The Comprehensive Educational Services Act for People with Disabilities:
States that after identifying with the instructor and the institution, the student with disabilities will receive reasonable accommodation in their courses and evaluations. For more information, contact the Department of Counseling and Psychological services at the Office of the Dean of Students (Office DE 21) or call 787-265-3864 or 787-832-4040 x 3772, 2040 and 3864.
12. Academic Integrity
The University of Puerto Rico promotes the highest standards of academic and scientific integrity. Article 6.2 of the UPR Students General Bylaws (Board of Trustees Certification 13, 2009-2010) states that academic dishonesty includes, but is not limited to: fraudulent actions; obtaining grades or academic degrees by false or fraudulent simulations; copying the whole or part of the academic work of another person; plagiarizing totally or partially the work of another person; copying all or part of another person answers to the questions of an oral or written exam by taking or getting someone else to take the exam on his/her behalf; as well as enabling and facilitating another person to perform the aforementioned behavior. Any of these behaviors will be subject to disciplinary action in accordance with the disciplinary procedure laid down in the UPR Students General Bylaws.—

13. Certification 06-43 of the Academic Senate

"The academic guidelines for offering online courses," defines: Traditional face-to-face courses are those that have less than 25% of the course's regular contact hours via the Internet. Therefore, a three-credit course will be considered "face to face" if, of the 45 hours of regular contact, 11 or less are taught via the Internet. According to certification 06-43 of the Academic Senate, a course may include up to 25% of its total contact hours via the Internet. The objective of this is so that all professors have this alternative in the case of any unscheduled eventuality.

14. Sexual Harassment: Certification 130-2014-2015 states:

Sexual harassment in the workplace and in the study environment is an illegal and discriminatory act and is against the best interests of the University of Puerto Rico. All persons who understand they have been subject to acts of sexual harassment at the University of Puerto Rico may file a complaint and request that the institution investigate, where necessary, and assume the corresponding action by the university authorities. If the complainant is a student, he or she must refer his or her complaint to the Office of the Student Ombudsperson or that of the Dean of Students.
